APRIL 1, 2021 • 2 MIN READ

Working in the film industry is considered to be one of the most tempting and glamorous careers of the 21st century, but is the work at the zenith really going to be a cakewalk? Definitely not, with the success rate less than most of the other career paths it is really a difficult task to get into this profession.

So, should we stop dreaming and settle for less than we want? The answer is No again. "every dream matters" and Nandan Jha tries to realize this. Jha believes that everybody has the right to do what he or she loves to do and hence he is revolutionizing the whole industry with his premier institute Placing Dreams.
